Lim Jo

"My daughter is all I have left. I will make sure none of those spawns of madness ever come close to her."

Age: 42
Race: Human, male
Occupation: Maintenance worker
Personality: Good-hearted, industrious, diligent

Lim Jo had lived in the same spike on his homeworld for al of his life. He was raised doing manual labour, taking care of the spikes' maintenance as well as its people, though the latter wasn't part of his job. A kind soul, Lim married a fellow worker Mona and together they had a daughter. When the darkness swallowed Lim's world, he barely managed to escape with his daughter thanks to his friend Jumana.

Not one to fall to despair, even in the bleakest of times, Lim continues to be a man of action and a protector. Accepting the new turn his life has taken, he gives his all to safeguard his daughter from the horrors that lurk in the universe.

Class: Provider

For years, Lim toiled for the sake of his friends and family. Old habits die hard and now he continues to do so for his newfound allies.

Starting skills

Good-enough stuff (passive)

Scrounging was too often a necessity in the crowded spikes and improvisation became more a norm than an exception.

More loot from finds and battles

Fixer upper

Fixing people instead of inanimate objects is more or less the same, just with more screaming.

Heal a friendly unit

Barricade

There's a reason why folks to this day keep building walls to protect themselves.

Create a cover for an allied unit, reducing ranged damage taken

Sarah

"The universe is a big place. Even those things can't cover all of it. At least that's the theory."

Age: 31
Race: Human, female
Occupation: Drifter, scavenger
Personality: Reserved, cautious, compassionate

Sarah lived a rowdy life up until the end. Hailing from a middle-class family, she didn't live in luxury but also never wanted for the essentials in life, giving her the freedom to pursue life as she saw fit.

When the darkness descended on her home planet, she made it out through a combination of stubborness and pure chance. However, when the dust settled and her world was left a lifeless husk in the cold void, she found herself alone on a foreign ship with no direction, little hope and a sadness that kept her awake for weeks. When Sarah finally regained some semblance of self-control, she chose the only path she could see available to her and begun roaming through the stars.

Class: Drifter

Drifters are survivors, scavenging what they need in order to keep going. In combat drifters are malleable, doing whatever is necessary to come out alive.

Starting skills

Make do (passive)

Drifters aren't a picky lot. They will make it work, by force if necessary.

Status effects inflicted are more effective

Makeshift explosive

You'd be surprised what materials you can rig to go boom if need be.

Area of effect explosive damage

Seraphim scan

The Seraphim possesses powerful scanner arrays that can gather information on almost anything.

Reveal all enemies' current status and info

Vethorel

"I don't have time for an apocalypse, there are things to be done and hypotheses to be tested."

Age: ??
Race: Human, male
Occupation: Master of the Mechanicae, The Ursa
Personality: Curious, socially awkward, aloof

Vethorel doesn't hold the past in very high regard. Ever since he joined the Mechanium on his home planet, his experiments and discoveries are all that matter. His talent with machines has always been evident if unpredictable, which denied him just as many opportunities as it opened up. While he has over the years replaced some of his body parts with enchanced augmentations, Vethorel has no intention of following that path as far as some of his colleagues have.

After a dispute with some of his seniors, Vethorel decided to embrace his calling amongst the stars and enlisted as the Master of the Mechanicae on the exploration vessel Ursa. Focusing entirely on his work and discoveries, the slowly encroaching darkness holds little interest for Vethorel, even after it consumed his vessel.

Class: Mechanimagus

Possessing vast amounts of technical understanding and capabilities, mechanimaguses are valuable assets to their allies and formidable opponents to their foes.

Starting skills

Ironwrought (passive)

Bone breaks and flesh tears. Metal more often does not.

Slightly reduce all damage taken

Crushing grasp

The tendrils from Vethorel's power pack are capable of feats of both precision and strength.

Immobilize and damage an enemy

Menace

The presence of such a monster of metal is not lost on even the most mindless of foes.

Increase threat generated and reduce enemy accuracy

Jumana

"Many of those bastards had it coming. But many also did not. There are matters that need to be solved and people to be avenged."

Age: 33
Race: Human, female
Occupation: Bodyguard
Personality: Carefree, tough, straightforward

Nobody really knows where Jumana came from nor does she like to talk about her past. Those who have tried to make her, either through rounds of drinks or even more aggressive means have met with failure and, in the latter cases, trips to a nearby medical facility if they are lucky. She used to be a bounty hunter, but has since retired from that life and lived on the same world as Lim Jo, making ends meet by offering her services as a bodyguard to those who could afford it.

When their world fell, Jumana commandeered a ship for herself, Lim and his daughter and they barely managed to flee the engulfing darkness. Jumana is angry at the insanity that took place and looking for a way to fight back.

Class: Marksman

There are soldiers, there are fighters, but only a select few can claim the title of a marksman. Able to land a shot most people would deem impossible, they are rightly feared for their skills and proficiency.

Starting skills

Crack shot (passive)

When you shoot enough times it becomes as natural as breathing.

Ranged accuracy greatly increased and a chance for a critical hit

Never tell me the odds

A good soldier can fight. A great soldier can even the odds. A legendary one ignores them.

Fire a burst of shots that hit multiple enemies

You thought you had me?

One might think that a marksman's vulnerability would be close combat. One would be wrong.

Block a melee attack and counter